1. Purpose of the MoU

This Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) governs the operation of the partnership scheme and reflects, as far as possible, all such schemes for Chevening partnership scholarships.

2. Aims

The aims of the Chevening Scholarships Programme are:

- To attract and select from around the world those scholars who demonstrate the greatest potential to become leaders, decision-makers and opinion-formers in their own countries.
- To ensure scholars' experiences in the UK leave them supportive of the UK.
- To position Chevening as the most prestigious programme of its type in the world.

- To allow talented Uruguayan scholars greater access to the Chevening Programme for the benefit of Uruguayan society and development.

3. The arrangement

The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) and ANII, hereafter referred to as “Participants”, have decided to collaborate in a scheme to provide Chevening partnership scholarships, known as the Chevening/ANII Scholarships, for overseas students wishing to study for a one-year Master’s degree in Energy, Environment and Biodiversity, Health, Information and Communications Technology (ICT), Biotechnology, Agro-Industrial Chain, Transport and Logistics, and Tourism at any accredited university in the UK.

The Chevening/ANII Scholarships will be open to nationals of Uruguay, who should be normally resident in Uruguay and be located there at the time of making an application.

Participants will be invoiced in GBP by the Chevening Secretariat and will hold responsibility for all bank charges incurred.

ADMINISTRATION

9. Administrators of the Chevening Scholarships Programme

The Chevening Scholarships Secretariat of the Association of Commonwealth Universities, hereafter referred to as “The Secretariat”, will be responsible for administering the Chevening Scholarships Programme on behalf of the FCO.

10. Application and selection procedures

Application

Applications for the Awards will be made through the Chevening on-line application system.

Longlisting and shortlisting

Once the application deadline has passed the Secretariat will prepare a list of eligible applicants in accordance with the eligibility criteria. Eligible applications will then be passed to an independent Reading Committee, assembled by the Secretariat, comprised of a Regional Specialist and an Academic Specialist. The Reading Committee will evaluate all eligible applications and determine a long-list of recommended applicants.

The long-list applications of recommended applicants will be reviewed by the FCO Post (Posts are defined as the FCO’s international network of Embassies and High Commissions). Post will draw up a short-list of those that shall be called to interview. The Secretariat will take up references for applicants.

The Secretariat will inform all unsuccessful applicants of the outcome of the long and short list selection processes.

Interview

Posts will share the details of applicants to be interviewed with the Secretariat via the online application system.

The Secretariat will advise the applicants that they will be invited to interview.

Interviews will be conducted by Posts in-country alongside other Chevening interviews.

Representatives from each Participant will join the interview panel on a date or dates to be decided by the Participants (see model timetable in Annex A). ANII may nominate an external interview panellist or defer to the FCO Post if they are unable to attend the interview panel.

Selection

After interviews, Participants jointly decide upon the final selection of successful, reserve and unsuccessful applicants and the Secretariat then advises each applicant of their status.

FCO Post will send out the award offers and the Secretariat will make the administrative arrangements for scholars prior to their departure and for their period of study.

11. Promotion and publicity

The Participants will jointly promote the Awards as widely as possible and they will be acknowledged equally in all promotion and publicity surrounding it.

The Awards will be promoted as a distinct opportunity by each of the Participants. The FCO will promote the Awards on the www.chevening.org website and other online digital platforms such as the Official Chevening Page on Facebook and on Twitter.

Participants and the Secretariat will use their best endeavours to ensure that the Awards are fully utilised each year.

Participant logos, trade names, trademarks or service marks cannot be used without prior written consent from all Participants and must only be used in relation to the Chevening/ANII Scholarships. Any public reference to this partnership scheme (including press releases and adverts) must be approved by all Participants before public dissemination.

As part of this agreement all partners are publicised on the Chevening.org website showcasing the partnership and advertising the opportunity to applicants. If debt is incurred by the partner to the FCO for a period of 6 months or longer (in line with payment terms outlined in Annex A) then the partner's profile will be removed from the Chevening.org website and will no longer be publicised.

12. Administration and welfare

A model timetable for the administration of the Award scheme, promotion and publicity, and application and selection procedures is set out at Annex A.

The Secretariat will, on behalf of the FCO, be responsible for:

- The administration and welfare of the scholars;
- Paying the appropriate stipends and allowance package directly to the scholars;
- Booking and making payment for a return flight (economy class) for each scholar; and
- Enrolling the scholars in its full Events and Engagement Programme, and offer the opportunity to be paired with a Chevening alumnus

All cost components are set out in Annex B of this MOU.

13. Participants' rights and benefits

Attached: Annex A, Annex B

Participants who decide to sponsor scholars under the Chevening Scholarships Programme can expect the following benefits:

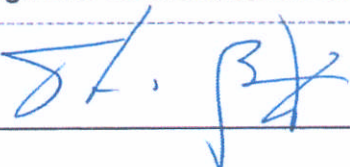

- Opportunity to be a partner with the FCO in building influence among the leaders of the future in a wide range of sectors.
